

Insurance, magazine, and news agents are prohibited from canvassing pupils, teachers or principals in the school building. Representatives of book companies, school supplies and other commercial agents are prohibited from canvassing schools without special permission from administrative personnel in the elementary and secondary departments and from canvassing of teachers by any agent while classes are in session. No endorsement of any publication shall be made for use in the community.

Requests for the privilege of demonstrating materials and products such as overware, cooking utensils, et cetera, in the county schools shall not be granted. Anything that would be of a direct advertising nature in the schools would come under this policy statement.
